WILSON AND THE GRANGERS.

Secretary of Agriculture Talks to the Representative Farmers. Harrisburg, Nov. 18.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson made an informal address at yesterday's afternoon session of the National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, who congratulated the grange on the important position it occupies and the dignified manner in which the grangers discharge the responsibilities resting upon them. He addressed the grangers on the need for education and object lessons in the sciences that relate to agriculture, and asked for colleges, experiment stations and a department of agriculture, that are all engaged in making plain the secrets of nature as they relate to climate and soil, plant and animal, in their relation to mankind and his happiness. The scientific student of the farm is making household words the scientific talk of what has heretofore been an unknown tongue.

The department of agriculture is trying to help the individual and the state where its arm is longest, that theirs and its facilities greater. It is opening up new markets, introducing new plants, gathering facts for producers at home and abroad to the end that they may be better informed regarding their work and the operations of those the world over with whom they compete.

A resolution was adopted against the grange taking any part in co-operative enterprises and against gambling in futures. The grange closes its sessions today.

Something to Live For.

To-morrow night an attraction of exceptional merit is promised at Kaiser's opera house, Mahanoy City, when the well-known comedian, Hinesley Loyole, of the same company will present the successful comedy, "Other People's Money." The play was first produced last fall at the Madison Square Theatre, New York, where it scored an immense success. The author, Edward Owings Towne, has selected an eccentric American millionaire Board of Trade operator as his leading character, and in this part Mr. Loyole has created a personage who will live on the stage as long as the "Senator," "Old Mulberry Sellers." The plot briefly outlined deals with the love affairs of two young people, the clerk and daughter of Huteshulm Hopper, a Board of Trade man. Among the players are such well-known people as Miss Katie Wade, Mr. Joseph Tosten, Miss Ada Zell, Mr. Charles P. Stanley, Miss Mabel Trunnell, Fred. Kay, Harry Sutherland, etc. The play offers an exceptionally good opportunity to see an exceptionally good show, and at the same time enjoy the comforts of an opera house furnished from top to bottom in a style to please all. Go to Mahanoy City to-morrow night and enjoy yourself.

CRIMINAL COURT!

The Case Against County Officials Postponed Until January.

PHIL CONNELL ARRIVED HOME!

The West Mahanoy Township Case, Now Being Tried Before Judge Bechtel—A Verdict May Be Reached by Saturday Night.

POTTSVILLE, NOV. 18.

A special telephone message to the HERALD yesterday afternoon, shortly after the last edition went to press, conveyed the important news that Phil J. Connell, the missing ex-clerk to the County Commissioners, had been captured in Philadelphia by Constable Iron Policeman David L. Jenkins, and that the much-sought ex-clerk would arrive in Pottsville about 5:30 o'clock. He mysteriously left Pottsville on September 15th last, and until yesterday apparently no one knew of his whereabouts.

Immediately upon his arrival yesterday Connell entered bail in the sum of $4,000, with W. H. Hunzinger and D. L. Estor as securities. To-night reporter Mr. Connell said his home coming was voluntarily, and added: "I left home for Atlantic City on September 15th, with a severe attack of hay fever, finding no relief at the sea shore I boarded a train for Boston, and remained in that city until last Thursday, when I arrived in Philadelphia. While in Boston I was very sick and when I became better I then realized in what a state I had left my business, and felt so bad I decided not to write home or acquaint anybody of my whereabouts.

"Finally I made up my mind that it was time to come home. I started. I reached Philadelphia on Thursday. The following day I saw in the Ledger that two true bills had been found against me. On Sunday I wrote to District Attorney Bechtel and told him that if I was needed at this time of court, I would come on, but if the cases were not called I would prefer to stay in the city and recuperate my health.

"I had secured a room at 7th and Buttonwood streets and left there yesterday morning for the purpose of going down to the post office to see if District Attorney had written to me. I turned into 38th street and was walking along when I met Officer Jenkins and Luke Nash, a former Constable of Pottsville. We passed the general greetings and I told them where I was going and why. Mr. Jenkins said he had a warrant for me, and I told him I was ready to come home. So here I am and I can readily give any information that I can to throw light on the case now pending."

Mr. Connell spent last night at his home in Girardville. It is not known whether he will be a witness against the Controller and the County Commissioners, although many rumors are afloat in reference to the ex-clerk turning state evidence.

THE CASES ON OVER.

District Attorney Bechtel and W. J. Whitehouse, Esq., counsel for Controller Severn, held a consultation in the library at the court house this afternoon, and reached an informal understanding in reference to the cases against the County Commissioners and the Controller, in which the Taxpayers' Association charge them with mismanagement in office.

This conference will result in those cases going over to the January term of court, and the further information is furnished that this agreement is agreeable to both sides.

CLAYTON-MURDER.

A Sensational Letter Recalling Arkansas' Celebrated Case.

DECLARES HE CAN PROVE GUILT

A Man Signifying Himself Luther Atkins Writes to Governor Jones Declaring He Can Locate the Assassin of Little Rock, Ark.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 18.—The memory of the most famous crime committed in Arkansas—the assassination of Hon. John M. Clayton—has been revived by the receipt of a letter by Governor Jones from Pitts. Ga. from a person signifying the name of Luther Atkins. The writer of the letter recalls the circumstances, inquires about rewards and states that he can locate the murderer and produce proof of guilt.

The murder of John M. Clayton will be remembered by politicians and public men all over the United States. Clayton was a brother of Hon. Powell Clayton, the present United States minister to Mexico. He was the Republican candidate for congress in 1890, his opponent being Hon. Clifford S. Bruckbridge, late ambassador to Russia. The canvass was a spirited one, and the contest was bitter. Bruckbridge was declared elected, and Clayton fled to Mexico. While this contest was in progress Mr. Clayton wrote to Pitts. Ga. to look after his interests there. While in his room one night just before preparing to retire an assassin crept up in the dark and fired a bullet through the window of his room, inflicting wounds from which he died.

The murder created a sensation all over the United States. Detectives were employed and worked diligently on the case, many persons were suspected of the crime, but the murderer went unpunished. Many times since then the memory of the crime has been revived by the discovery of some new clue, but the assassin had almost been forgotten when the letter from Atkins once more brought the terrible affair into public notice. The legislature once offered a reward of $5,000 for the detection of the murderer, and the reward is probably yet in force.

RIOT IN A SCHOOLHOUSE.

Principal Dangerously Injured and a Student's Father In Jail.

Dardanelle, Ark., Nov. 18.—A riot occurred in the public school Tuesday, as a result of which Professor Dickson is in a critical condition, a student named Alley is expelled, and the student's father, P. A. Alley, is in jail. The trouble started when Miss Jones, one of the teachers, attempted to correct young Alley for an infraction of the rules. Alley is a boy of 15 years, and Miss Jones thrashed him. The boy took the punishment, but resolved to revenge and at recess got fire to the premises. For this offense Professor Dickson attempted to give the boy another thrashing. Alley resisted, and in the fight with Dickson had all the heat of his face, the professor's face into a jelly and inflicting dangerous wounds. A free fight ensued, and Alley's father came to his son's rescue. Officers stopped the fight and arrested the sides Alley.
